

Biography

Belinda Kilcullen is Director Business Operations and Integration for Raytheon Australia. In this role Belinda is responsible for corporate business operations and the development and deployment of enterprise-wide processes and tools that are required for Raytheon Australia to deliver cost effective NoDoubt[®] solutions to its customers. She also manages a team responsible for Facilities and Security, Quality Assurance, and Raytheon Six Sigma[™].

During her time with Raytheon Australia, Belinda has lead a range of portfolios. She has worked at Raytheon Company headquarters in Waltham, Massachusetts for three months in 2005 and on assignment in the United States for the duration of 2006.

Prior to joining Raytheon in 2001, Belinda held management roles in product manufacturing marketing, public affairs, business development and communications in Australia and the United Kingdom. She has worked in commercial and public sectors in wholesale and retail, environment, tourism and property development.

Belinda is a graduate of the Australian National University. She also has qualifications in marketing and publishing and is currently completing a master's degree in marketing.