

Biography

Paul Evans is the General Manager of the Air Warfare Destroyer (AWD) business unit within Raytheon Australia. In this role, Paul is accountable for Raytheon's performance on this large and complex program. Paul also fills the role of Business and Services Director for the AWD Alliance.

For three years prior to undertaking this role, Paul was the Business Director for the AWD Alliance, accountable for AWD Alliance business policy, process and procedure. Paul previously also managed Raytheon Australia's Aerospace Integration business.

As a knowledgeable business and program manager, Paul has over 25 years experience in defence and defence industry roles. This experience includes 14 years as a RAAF Engineering Officer and has been with Raytheon Australia in a number of capacities since 1995.

Paul has completed a Bachelor of Electronic Engineering through the Royal Melbourne Institute of Technology and a Master of Science in Aerosystems Engineering through Loughborough University of Technology, UK.